STUDENT LIFECYCLE MANAGEMENT

Efficient working in all administrative processes

As technology reshapes the educational experience, higher education institutions are demanding more from their IT systems. They demand software that allows students to assume charge of their information while enabling faculty members to better organize their work and interactions with students. On the same token, faculty needs support for activities such as student administration, recruiting and fundraising.

Broaden access to information through multi-lingual Mobile App

Advantum's PeopleSoft team meets the expectations of students, faculty and administration by providing online access to education and services through a multi-lingual mobile app for both Apple and Android phones.
